Research teams in five Irish Higher-Education Institutions and two research institutes

The Irish Centre for Research in Applied Geosciences (iCRAG) is looking to host experienced researchers via funding through Marie Skłodowska-Curie Individual Fellowships. To secure funding, the experienced researcher must develop a proposal with the host for the September 12th, 2018 deadline.

Company Description

iCRAG is Ireland's national geosciences research centre, comprising 150 researchers and collaborating with >50 industry partners. It brings together expertise from seven major institutes: UCD, TCD, DIAS, UCC, NUIG, MU and Teagasc.

Project idea and researcher opportunities

Research Field: Environment and Geosciences ENV

Our multidisciplinary research teams address the following challenges:

- Supply of raw materials
- Energy security
- Secure & protect groundwater resources
- Safeguard the geomarine environment
- Protection from Earth's hazards

Underpinning these research challenges is our work in enabling methodologies in the areas of geophysics, geochemistry and 3D modelling, along with our research on the public perception and understanding of geosciences.

Researcher Requirements

- The researcher must fulfil the MSCA-IF mobility and experienced researcher requirements.<sup>1</sup> iCRAG is currently seeking applications from experienced researchers (PhD holders or those with four years of research experience) with the drive and motivation to initiate a research project that will advance your research training and career.

Contact information
